REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

On motion of Senator West and by unanimous consent, the remarks regarding SR 306 were ordered reduced to writing and printed in the Senate Journal as follows:

Senator Gutierrez: Thank you, Mr. President. Thank you so much. Thank you for giving me this time today, Mr. President. I know that our time is valuable. But today, I want to recognize some of the leaders from the County of Uvalde. Some very good friends of mine. Normally, when we have a county day, we're talking about the things that make our counties precious. We talk about their histories. We talk about—

President: Excuse me. Members, can we have some order on the floor for this resolution? Thank you.

Senator Gutierrez: Thank you, Mr. President. I appreciate that. We talk about, you know, for instance John Nance Garner, the Vice President under FDR was from Uvalde, Texas. Our beloved Governor, Dolph Briscoe, was from Uvalde. They may have, make some great pecans in Uvalde. They grow some great pecans, Mr. President, in Uvalde, former hunting capital of Texas, great hunting and recreation. Unfortunately, May 24th has now caused it, us to remember Uvalde in a different way. And so, because of that, and I think that we'll have plenty of time to debate all of the issues that arose because of that. We'll do that some other day, but I do want to recognize the people that are here, Mr. President. And thank you for allowing me to do that. I want to acknowledge the day that they had to live that day and in many instances the first time I got to know them. When you represent a city, a Senate district that's larger than Rhode Island, you don't get to be everywhere. You try as best you can, you know a few people, I knew County Judge Bill Mitchell from before, he's up in the gallery. And the Judge that day, on May 24th, I called him very early on. We had a few calls during that day. I made my way out there that evening. He exhausted himself living through that horror. In many instances, watching these young parents that he knew as children go through the horror of losing their little children, of not being able to identify them, and having to wait hours for that identification process to happen. As I arrived that night at what was generally called the civic center, that night called the reunification center, Bill Mitchell's staff had told me the Judge had just, he had to go, and it was late by the time I got there, it was about 9:30. And he had been working all day long as was my good friend, now, the Mayor, Don McLaughlin. The Mayor, McLaughlin, he and I probably wouldn't agree on much before this day, but we agree on a whole hell of a lot now. And I've gotten to call him a dear friend of mine and a supporter and just a really, really good fine person. He has done so much for his constituency by way of demanding transparency, giving them as many answers as he can and he wants to give them more. And he, too, watched friends and some instances relatives of his own employees pass on. The next day, on May 25th, I went to the Community Health Development, Inc., and I met a woman names Mayela Castanon. Mayela runs the therapy clinic, that is the clinica, the clinic for the community. Uvalde is a county of about 18,000. About 11,000 people are served by her clinic, and we tried to get some funding for her, and we have been able to get some private funding. And she has done an incredible job. Mayela, too, had a father who worked for her who lost his little girl. She had five other employees, four other employees, I think, that lost relatives of theirs, cousins and nieces and nephews. That's the nature of what happened on that day. It was so close. It wasn't a situation where you didn't know someone that lost a child or lost a teacher. Third or fourth day I met Hector Gonzalez, who I now, I call a dear friend as well. Hector runs as our President, college president at Southwest Texas Junior College, which does a tremendous amount of great work in that part of the country, of our state, Mr. President, on trades, making sure we're training people to do the jobs in the oil field and such. Hector opened the college doors to us so much so that we moved our office, our western office, from Eagle Pass and hired Carlos Lopez, who was the Democratic Party Chair, to run that office for us. And we now have an office at the community college because it was important as you would know. You and I talked in those first few days, Governor, about making sure that the community had the resources that it needed, and so, we were trying to be a liaison between different state agencies. And that was important to us. Luis Fernandez is with the Uvalde ISD board president. Luis, too, has had to deal with a tremendous amount of just all of that, all of that drama, all of that heartache, all of that tragedy, as the school board president, lost children of friends that he went to school with who had lost their children. John Yeackle is here with us today. John has been a tremendous asset. He's the Executive Director of the Chamber of Commerce. John and others along with the Mayor and the County Judge were instrumental in taking, as you know, millions of dollars flooded into the community. It was a conversation that I had with Senator Zaffirini. She said that when the Sutherland Springs incident occurred that families only got 40 percent of the monies raised, which was just a travesty, which is something that we should be looking at into the future to make sure that these NGOs and nonprofits do the right thing. John and others made sure that that happened and the money that was raised went directly to families that had lost their children, families that had children that were injured. Not one deviation of one penny went to anywhere else other than the kids that were in that school and their relatives and kids that had trauma. I met a little boy, Cesar Hernandez, who's in the third grade. He was in the school. I met him about a week later and this little boy couldn't speak. He just couldn't speak. He just couldn't, he couldn't speak anymore because of the trauma that he had experienced just from the gunshots that were going on that day. I don't want to beleaguer the point because we have work to do, and I just appreciate you giving me this moment. But what I do want everybody to understand and also thank you for is that these folks, more than me, I stayed about 15 days. But they grew up with these people that lost their children and lost their husbands, or their wives, rather, in the two teachers that passed on. They grew up with them, they saw it and they lived through the horror of this day. And I hope that by what we're doing today, and I've told them earlier, by the way, and I want to thank, specifically, Senator Huffman, if she's here, for her leadership. I think she probably stepped out. We're doing so far about $30 million, thanks to you as well, leadership of others. Specifically going to go to mental health in the Uvalde area, to go to 15 million to help rebuild the school between SB 30 and SB 1. And it's not about money, but it's just about showing that we care. But I also would like us to remember what we should unite about, in this thing, this horrible tragedy isn't about Republican politics or Democratic politics. We have to unite in solving the problems that are facing us each and every day, just like Mayor McLaughlin and I have united in raising the age limit. We have to come together where we can to make Texas safer. I just want to thank you, I thank you all for listening, and thank you all for welcoming these people. Don't just shake their hand, go up there and give them a hug. We've seen the most horrific things you've ever seen. This Mayor's seen just about every bit of videotape and footage that I've seen. Sometimes I wonder if we should have even looked at that stuff to begin with. And what I'll never forget it, I'll never forget those images. I go to bed each night thinking about it as you do. They are good people, none of us deserve this, but they're here to live to tell about it, and they want to do something for these children. And before I close today, Mr. President, I do just want to remember if we, if you would indulge me, in just remembering the names of the most important people in Uvalde and that starts with Uziyah Garcia, little boy that lost his life, Rojelio Torres, Maranda Mathis, Alithia Ramirez, Nevaeh Bravo, Eliahna Torres, Layla Salazar, Annabell Rodriguez, Jayce Luevanos, Eliahna Garcia, Tess Mata, Maite Rodriguez, Jailah Silguero, Amerie Jo Garza, Makenna Elrod, Irma Garcia, Alexandria "Lexi" Rubio, Eva Mireles, Xavier Lopez, Jacklyn Cazares, and Jose Flores. And with that, Mr. President, thank you very much.

President: Thank you, Senator. Very well done. I know how much this has impacted you personally. For our Mayor, I worked with the Mayor before this happened on several issues, from time to time, and, Mayor, I think, Members, and many of you represent small towns. We have so many across Texas. When a tragedy happens, it impacts our big cities as well, but when it happens in a small town the mayor knows the people personally, which makes the job of being mayor even that much more difficult. He knew all the, all the players who responded. He knew the families of those killed that day, were traumatized that day. And so, I thank the Mayor and all the people standing here on that floor, and I do not know all of you as well as I know the Mayor, and some of you I'll meet the first time. But, Mayor, what you did, and I know we talked almost every day, what you did on behalf of your community, I've really never seen anyone respond the way you did and do the work that you did, and you're one of the heroes of that day along with all of those that are standing with you. But, Mayor, you did an extraordinary job in a very difficult circumstance, more than almost any mayor would ever face. So, we honor you, we're glad you're all here today. Members, the resolution for Uvalde County Day, let's all stand in honor of these men and women and all those who aren't here that day.
