STATEMENT REGARDING SENATE BILL 2880

Senators Alvarado, Blanco, Cook, Eckhardt, Gutierrez, J. Hinojosa, Johnson, Menéndez, Miles, West, and Zaffirini, submitted the following statement regarding SB 2880:

Senate Bill 2880 is an extreme overreach of state power that creates a de facto abortion travel ban, weaponizing civil penalties to intimidate and punish those who support a Texas woman's decision to seek reproductive care—including lawful care in other states. While Texans have a constitutional right to travel, this bill targets that freedom by threatening family members, friends, doctors and anyone else who assists someone in accessing medication abortion outside Texas.

The real purpose of this bill is fear. Whether lawsuits succeed or not, the threat alone deters support, isolates pregnant Texans and undermines public trust in the legal system. The bill tells Texas women: you're alone. And it tells doctors, family members, clergy and out-of-state providers: help them and you're next. Chillingly, the bill also provides new tools to abusive partners, allowing them to sue, weaponize private medical information and further control survivors.

The bill expands on the vigilante-style civil enforcement mechanism first seen in S.B. 8 (the "bounty hunter" law), which encourages private citizens to sue anyone who "aids or abets" an abortion. S.B. 2880 builds on that strategy with specific, sweeping provisions aimed at medication abortion with an outrageous $100,000 penalty. It creates new civil liability for anyone who manufactures, mails, transports, delivers, prescribes or provides abortion-inducing drugs—even if that support happens entirely outside Texas. This includes liability through wrongful death or personal injury claims and exposes anyone who supports Texas women to harassment and financial ruin.

Notably, S.B. 2880 includes a provision to block judicial review, asserting that Texas courts lack jurisdiction to consider or invalidate any part of the bill. At the same time, it extends the $100,000 penalty to judges who dare to review the law and find it unconstitutional as well as attorneys who dare to represent clients in those proceedings.

Most egregious, S.B. 2880 quietly revives Texas's pre-Roe abortion ban and treats it as enforceable despite court rulings that have enjoined it. By explicitly incorporating the 1925 law into the bill's definition of "criminal abortion law," S.B. 2880 opens the door to both civil and potentially criminal action under a long-superseded legal framework. This 1925 law does not exclude pregnant women from prosecution and explicitly criminalizes "furnishing the means" of abortion—a vague clause that could be used to target those who assist with abortion-related travel.

The bill author has refused to address this critical and dangerous loophole—one he willingly fixed in S.B. 31. By declining to ensure that the outdated and punitive 1925 abortion law is not revived through S.B. 2880, the bill author is actively opening the door to the criminalization of women seeking out-of-state abortion care as well as anyone who helps them including spouses, friends and loved ones.

This threat is not theoretical; it is written directly into the text. In SUBCHAPTER F, Section 171A.351, the bill defines "criminal abortion law" to include "any law of this state imposing criminal penalties on abortion, including Chapter 6-1/2, Title 71, Revised Statutes." That language refers explicitly to the 1925 statute which, again, does not exclude pregnant women from prosecution and specifically criminalizes "furnishing the means" for any abortion not deemed a medical emergency. This clause—which appears in no other abortion law currently on the books in Texas—can be interpreted to criminalize those who help someone obtain legal abortion care in another state. Its quiet reactivation through S.B. 2880 poses an unprecedented threat.

The bill author claimed that provisions explicitly criminalizing travel were removed from the original version of the bill. However, if S.B. 2880 revives a law that already criminalizes abortion-related travel assistance, then that reassurance rings hollow.

Furthermore, Section 171A.352(b) grants the Attorney General sweeping authority to sue these individuals for "civil damages or injunctive relief." In doing so, S.B. 2880 not only revives criminal exposure—it empowers the Attorney General to enforce it through civil litigation, dramatically expanding state authority to pursue and punish Texans for exercising a constitutionally protected right to travel.

In its current form, S.B. 2880 is a backdoor effort to fully reinstate the 1925 law. It is a vote to criminalize women, trap them within the borders of Texas and to threaten anyone who tries to help them—regardless of whether the abortion occurs legally in another state. This includes survivors of rape and incest and those facing lethal fetal diagnoses. It is harsher than any abortion law currently on the books and it represents a deliberate step backward into an era of cruelty, surveillance and state control over private medical decisions.

Texans deserve compassion and clarity, not intimidation. S.B. 2880 is an unconstitutional, overreaching and harmful bill that must be stopped. The consequences for Texas women—and anyone who supports them—are too severe.
