The roll was called and the following Senators were present: Armbrister, Averitt, Barrientos, Brimer, Carona, Deuell, Duncan, Ellis, Eltife, Estes, Gallegos, Jackson, Janek, Lindsay, Lucio, Madla, Nelson, Ogden, Seliger, Shapiro, Shapleigh, Staples, Wentworth, West, Whitmire, Williams, Zaffirini.

Absent-excused: Fraser, Harris, Hinojosa, Van de Putte.

The Presiding Officer announced that a quorum of the Senate was present.

The Reverend Jerry House, Jr., Christ United Methodist Church, College Station, offered the invocation as follows:

God, we come before You today with all the humility we can muster. And we need that in our lives, God, because we need to stop, if only for one moment out of each day, to place ourselves before something greater than ourselves. The only problem is that all too often we get confused about what it is that we are supposed to bend to. There are moments when we join with our biblical ancestors who bowed down to the gods that satisfied their temporal needs. At other times we bow down to the inflated visions we have of ourselves, forgetting that we are but dust, a grain of sand, a tiny seed compared to the expansiveness of Your kingdom. But You are our God who can take mustard seed-like faith and move mountains. You are the one who sees through our carefully put together personas that can be both polished and profane at the same time and love each one of us more deeply than we could ever hope to be loved. Because, despite our failures, despite our shortcomings, despite our sin, both individual and collective, we are Your children. And this esteemed body of men and women gathered here today in this hallowed hall have been granted the authority to act on behalf of all Your children. And I pray today that the deliberations that take place and the decisions that are made will receive Your blessing. And when the final gavel sounds, I pray that we will be found faithful. For it is to You, the only one who is able to keep us from falling, that we pray. Amen.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

On motion of Senator Barrientos and by unanimous consent, the remarks regarding SR 563 were ordered reduced to writing and printed in the Senate Journal as follows:

Senator Lucio: My distinguished Members, today we rise to remember a great man, a great leader, truly a man of God. Tomorrow, the entire world will join together to mourn him at his funeral. I stand before you with a heavy heart for the loss of a man who seemed to walk with God the 26 years he led the Roman Catholic church. As a spiritual leader, Pope John Paul II touched people from all around the world with a message transcending faith and religious doctrines. The outpouring of love, prayers, and respect from people from other faiths over his death, from Muslims to Jews, is a clear testament of how beloved our Pope was and how far-reaching his legacy is. This past Saturday, the nations of the world sadly learned that the quarter of a century reign of one of our most profound religious leaders had physically, and I repeat, physically, come to an end. I say physically because although the Holy Father is gone from us temporarily, his teachings and guidance will remain with us in spirit throughout the ages. Mankind has truly been blessed by his prayers, his teachings, and, most of all, by his great example of unconditional love. He forgave where others would condemn. On meeting his would-be assassin in a prison cell, the Pope forgave and blessed the man in a manner that others could only marvel at. He also apologized for what others have overlooked, asking forgiveness for any persecution by the Catholic church during its 2,000 year history. Although not appointed a political leader, this first non-Italian Pope in more than 455 years greatly influenced government and politics. He is acclaimed for his leadership in helping dismantle communism in his native country of Poland. This brilliant man spoke eight languages and wrote poetry, plays, and theology. On a spiritual level, I attest to how important the Pope’s teachings have been in my life, that of my family, and that of my office family. Some of us have faced serious medical conditions over the last two years, so we sought comfort in our faith, our religion, and in the prayers of our Holy Father for strength to overcome our ailments. These painful experiences have helped us to see firsthand the Holy Father’s final message that life is precious no matter how painful. Valuing how precious life was, he chose to disregard the limitations of Parkinson’s Disease and old age so that he could fulfill his holy mission on Earth. Friends, I cannot tell you how much our Pope has been a pillar of strength to us. For more than one billion Catholics worldwide, he has been the rock of our faith, a solid rock. I call him our Pope because he was the Pope of the people. In Mexico and throughout the Spanish-speaking world we referred to him as nuestro Santo Papa, our Holy Father. He followed the teachings of Christ in such a way that should make us all reflect on how we live our own lives. May his soul now rest in a place he already seemed to know so very well. Vaya con Dios, nuestro querido Santo Papa, y que descanse en paz. I want to add, Members, that I was very privileged last Monday at noon to attend mass honoring our departed Pope. Our guests that are here with us today, Bishop Aymond celebrated that mass, and I was moved and overcome by his sincerity and choice of words as he vividly described the life of our Holy Father. There was something Bishop Aymond said that has remained strongly in my mind. He said that when the Holy Father had just been elected Pope 26 years ago, the first thing he said as he addressed a crowd was four words. He said, "Do not be afraid." I personally feel that our Father in heaven was actually talking to Pope John Paul. He was saying do not be afraid, my son, to lead, as I am with you. And a leader he was. I think the message from our great spiritual leader, Bishop Aymond, is similar, that in dying we should not be afraid for there are many wonderful things to come. We are also privileged to have Father Michael Mulvey here today, Chancellor for the Austin Diocese, here in our Chamber in Austin. My staff and I attended Ash Wednesday service at the beginning of Lent, and we were moved by Father Mulvey's homily, as well. His was a message of forgiveness and love, and we are honored to have Father Mulvey join with us for this solemn resolution, as well. At this time, my brothers, Members, and sisters, I would ask our Bishop, Bishop Aymond, to say a special prayer for us in this Chamber.

Bishop Aymond: Thank you. Let us pray. Loving and faithful God, we thank You for a man of courage, a man of the people, a man of deep faith, John Paul II. We thank You, for he served not only us as Catholics, but all those in the world. His heart was with humanity, peoples of all faiths and religions, all governments and structures. We thank You for his life. Lord God, we ask You to help us to hear the words that John Paul said not only at his election as Pope, but throughout his life, do not be afraid. Help us to carry those words in our hearts and to live lives of goodness as John Paul did. Lord God, as we gather in this Senate Chamber, we pray for the Senators of this State of Texas. We ask You to bless them in all of their efforts. We ask You to continue to place courage in their hearts to do what is good for Your people, to help us to grow as a state and as a nation. And we ask all of this, as we remember our departed John Paul II, we ask it in faith and in love. Amen.

Senator Ogden: Senator Lucio, I want to thank you for bringing this resolution to the Texas Senate. I want to thank Bishop Aymond for his presence representing the church that Pope John Paul II so ably led for 26 years. And I think it's remarkable, the history and the life of this great man, certainly one of the most significant figures, historical figures, in the last century. And he was a force for good, he was a force for humanity, a force for freedom, for human rights, but above all I think he was a force for Jesus Christ. And I know that it will not be too long that we will say, not His Holiness Pope John Paul II, we will talk about Saint John Paul II, and today I would ask that His Holiness keep us in his prayers, as well. Thank you, Senator Lucio.

Senator Zaffirini: I, too, rise to join Senator Lucio and every Member of this body in expressing great sadness at the loss of our wonderful Pope. And I share that profound sadness with citizens throughout the world because Pope John Paul II truly was a citizen of the world, a leader of the world. I cannot think of a holier person whom I have heard about in my lifetime. And there's so many people who feel that they knew this great man because he was so kind, because he was so gentle, because he was so loving. And while I rise as a Catholic, I know that there are members of every religion who feel the same profound sadness that Catholics have expressed. Senator Lucio, thank you for sponsoring this resolution and for giving us this opportunity to pay tribute to a great person. His legacy will be long remembered. Thank you.

Senator Barrientos: John Paul II, I think everyone, as they say in Spanish, cada cabeza es un mundo, every mind is a world to itself, interprets a lot of these things in different ways. The way I and some friends interpret John Paul II was one individual and the tremendous impact that that man had on the world. It makes one think sometimes, why are we here on Earth? I, Gonzalo Barrientos, Jon Lindsay, why are we here? And I choose to look at the phraseology of prayer, of religion, and bring it down to the level that we can talk to all around us. John Paul II not only talked about peace but did something. Remember the wars he spoke against. John Paul II defended and supported the poor, the hungry, the ill, the weak, those things that we, here today, do not do enough about. And, so I am saddened, but I take energy from what he spread throughout the world. And I am especially glad to welcome my Bishop, Gregory Aymond, and Father Mulvey. Thank you.

Senator Ellis: Senator Lucio, I join my colleagues in thanking you for bringing this resolution to us. As well, on a personal note, I got as close as a tourist could get to this Pope when he was in Merida, Mexico, and it was really quite an experience. He was in Mexico long enough to make a couple of important stops and to see thousands of people from all walks of faith show up in the rain and in the heat. It was quite an experience. Also, on a personal note, the first time that I went to Rome, I was in law school, and I landed in Rome on a very inexpensive flight, I might add, and it was the day that Pope Paul VI died, and as you know, he was Pope from 1963 until August 6, 1978. And the emotions of people on the streets was just amazing to me since I didn't know who El Papa was, and I remember getting a taxi from the airport and people all out along the streets were stopping cars to make sure that people knew, and they were crying. And my point is, for someone who is not Catholic, I'm Baptist, but went to a Catholic college for a year. It has always amazed me the reach and the depth of the Catholic church, the way that this church has reached out to people in poverty all around the world. And on many issues that we debate in public policy, even if there are some issues where one might disagree with the Catholic church, all of us have to agree, out of all of our faiths, it has been the Catholic church, throughout the ages of history, at a number of important points, that has stepped forward to be the voice of reason. And even in those instances where the church did not step forward far enough, part of the great legacy of this Pope, His Holiness John Paul II, will be even apologizing for those instances in history when the Catholic church did not step out far enough. So I appreciate you for bringing this to our attention. I think when we watch the news accounts of this funeral and the proceedings, it will be an opportunity for all of us to renew our faith, whatever it is, in a divine being. Thank you, Sir.

Senator Shapleigh: Senator Lucio, thank you for bringing this resolution today. When great people walk among us and pass from the scene, we then reflect and evaluate and think about their lives. I was reading an account in a newspaper recently, and so many people said one thing about the Pope: I miss him. One thing that this Pope brought is that he touched everyone across religions, across incomes, and across the world. He is a profound historic figure in our lifetime, maybe the most historic for all of us. And there are a few things about him I think that the folks that I represent will recall, and one was his tremendous vigor for life. This Pope, every year, would go out, in his youth, and hike in the mountains and be out and among the people. And even late in his life, he would schedule a vacation in the Alps, because he was used to going up there and being a vigorous, athletic fellow who enjoyed the outdoors. Even when he had Parkinson’s he’d try and get up there and do it every year. And another thing that I think was unusual about him was his connection to youth. The stories that would come out of Rome every summer when thousands of youth from all over the world would go, and he would come out, even late in his life, to be among the youth, to touch them, and to say, you’re our future, and I want to listen to you and what you have to say about what we’re doing in this papacy. But to me, and the folks in my part of the world, what strikes them about this Pope was his strong and deep commitment to social justice and the poor. And to say, every day of his papacy, that if Jesus walked among us today, he would look to you and to your lives. And that message has rung across the world. When we think about this Pope and his life with us, and I think, Senator Ogden, when you think of him as a saint in the future, if he gets to that status in the Catholic religion, it will be that commitment that marks his history with us. I appreciate you bringing this resolution today.

Senator Gallegos: Senator Lucio, thank you for bringing this resolution forward. Bishop and Father, the last time I saw the Pope I was in Jerusalem. I shared this with Senator Shapiro, and you could see–really, the only Garden of Gethsemane that I’ve ever known is the cemetery in Houston where all my relatives are buried–but I was able to go there right after he went there and it was really a joy for me. And you could see it in the faces of the people in the motorcade in Jerusalem, how they felt about this Pope. And I think that in listening to Senator Shapleigh and Senator Ogden, that you could tell when he went up to the window, this Pope went down fighting. And he always wanted to be in front of the people, and he was. And I think that’s how he’ll be remembered. I agree with Senator Ogden that he’ll probably be a saint some day. But it was an honor for me to, I didn’t meet him but I saw him, and I was that close, it was an honor for me to be in the Holy Land when I saw him, especially in Jerusalem.

Senator Nelson: Senator Lucio, I appreciate your bringing this resolution to us, and I will share with you, and I don’t talk about this a lot to people, but I had an opportunity to have a private audience with the Pope not too long ago. I was in Rome for the mass that was held for the tsunami victims and had an opportunity to have a private audience, and I can tell you, I’m not Catholic, and yet to be in the presence of that man, you could feel the goodness and the holiness about him. It is a great loss for the entire world. He was a man of courage, a man of strength, a man of goodness. When you think of him, immediately to my mind comes, you know, some of us remember back when Pope John Paul, Margaret Thatcher, Ronald Reagan, I attribute the fall of communism to those, and probably more, the Pope’s trip to Poland, than anything else. He was a man who respected life and was very firm in his convictions about when life begins and I appreciate that. When I found out, Senator, that I was going to be able to meet with him, I called a Bishop and said, what does a person do when they meet the Pope? And he said, well, take him a gift. And I, well, what do you give the Pope? And, so I took him, Senators, a book for the papal library of the missions of Texas, and he was most appreciative. Senator, if all Senators sign this resolution, I can make a presentation to the president of the Pope John Paul Foundation in behalf of the Senate, and I think he would very much appreciate that. Thank you, Senator.

President Pro Tempore Shapiro: Senator Lucio, personally, I would just like to say, thank you. It is an opportunity for all of us if, as you can tell, everyone on this floor agrees that this was a great and courageous and wonderful human being. So thank you for giving us the opportunity to participate in this resolution.

Senator Lucio: Madam President, thank you so much for those kind words. And, Members, in closing, our leader isn’t here today, Lieutenant Governor David Dewhurst, and he was the first to sign on to this memorial resolution for John Paul. And everyone in this Chamber signed on. I’m so proud of the 30 other Senators, my co-authors, all of us together, actually authors. I do want to finish with this. I really, truly believe, Members, that when we're born, just like the Pope, Pope John Paul was given a special power, we were too, by God, and that was the power to choose. Each one of us has that power, the power to choose, and each day we use that power to do right or wrong, to make a difference or not make a difference. We choose that power. And our Pope chose well. And when I talk about power, that's a very important word, too. Because, obviously, over the ages power has been abused or misused. But the worst thing about power, Members, is to neglect it when you have it and you can make a difference. And I think that’s the message that has been sent to me in the departure of our great Pope.

The motion prevailed by the following vote: Yeas 25, Nays 1.
Nays: Wentworth.
Absent: Armbrister.
Absent-excused: Fraser, Harris, Hinojosa, Van de Putte.

Reason for Vote

Senator Wentworth submitted the following reason for vote on suspension of the Constitutional Three-day Rule:

I cast a "No" vote on the procedural motion to suspend the Constitutional Rule requiring that bills be read on three several days in order to take up and consider CSSB 568, because in my judgment no circumstance exists in this case to justify the extraordinary act of suspending a requirement of the Texas Constitution. The suspension of this Constitutional Rule has the direct and immediate effect of denying the people of Texas knowledge and notice of the passage of this measure until it has already been finally passed on third reading. Were we to have followed the requirement of the Texas Constitution, third reading and a vote on CSSB 568 would have occurred on the next legislative day, allowing for Texans to have learned through news reports of our second reading vote exactly what we had tentatively passed. Third reading and a vote on the next legislative day would also have allowed our professional staff an opportunity overnight to make sure any amendments passed on second reading are technically correct.

Senator, District 25

The bill was read third time and was passed by the following vote: Yeas 26, Nays 0.
Absent: Armbrister.

STATEMENT OF LEGISLATIVE INTENT

Senator Deuell submitted the following statement of legislative intent for CSSB 568:

It is my intent that with the passage of CSSB 568, alarm companies currently regulated by DPS will continue to be regulated by DPS even if they include Personal Emergency Response Services in their menu of available services and would not need to seek any additional license for the provision of personal emergency response services. Those companies currently regulated by the DSHS for Personal Emergency Response Services that would expand their menu of services to include those items currently covered by DPS will need to apply to DPS for the appropriate licensure.
