Our heavenly Father, we thank You for allowing us to gather together today to serve You. May we always remember we serve You as we work to make Texas a better place to live and work. We ask You to watch over our families as we gather in this beautiful building to serve You. And, for sure, we ask You to watch over our first responders and our military men and women as they serve and allow them to return safely to their families. Also, Father, remind us while we serve You that we can disagree with one another without being disagreeable. And if we would do unto others as we would have them do unto us, we could accomplish so much more. Certainly, this would apply to State Senators and State Representatives as we continue to work together. This I pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

Senator Whitmire moved that the reading of the Journal of the proceedings of the previous day be dispensed with and the Journal be approved as printed.

The motion prevailed without objection.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

On motion of Senator Lucio and by unanimous consent, the remarks by Senators Powell, Hancock, and Nelson regarding Salem Sabatka were ordered reduced to writing and printed in the Senate Journal as follows:

Senator Powell: Thank you Mr. President and Members. Last night in the Ryan Place neighborhood on Fort Worth's Near Southside, an eight year girl, Salem Sabatka, and her mother were on a walk enjoying a beautiful evening after a rainy day. At 6:30 last evening, a man drove up beside them and pulled Salem into his car. Salem's mother jumped into the car to try to save her child but was pushed out of the vehicle and he took off. Neighbors in the Ryan Place neighborhood immediately rushed out to help, and the Fort Worth police were called to the scene. Ryan Place is a beautiful, quiet neighborhood bonded together by a strong neighborhood association and community leaders. Their local neighborhood police officer and the Fort Worth Police Department have always been a part of the fiber of that Ryan Place community. In fact, last year we did a Fourth of July neighborhood parade there, and it was a delightful event. Because of that strong community and a very close, trustful relationship with the Fort Worth Police Department, the neighborhood and the neighbors in Ryan Place were able to quickly mobilize, pushing information out on Facebook groups and on Twitter providing the front porch camera footage to the Fort Worth Police Department. A photo surfaced at 11:30 of a gray four-door sedan that was believed to be the suspect's vehicle. That photo went viral. Community leaders, citizens, and folks throughout Fort Worth and Tarrant County spread the image with the hope that someone would spot that vehicle. Well, spreading the pictures across social media worked, and that's one of the good things about social media. Two members of a local church saw that image on social media and drove around, trying to do their part to help save an eight-year-old girl. These individuals reported what they believed to be that vehicle at a local hotel around 2:30 this morning. Fort Worth police reported that they had found Salem, and the suspect was arrested. Members, there is no better example of a community coming together in love and caring and working with police and swiftly respond to a crisis than what we saw happen in Fort Worth, Texas, last night and in the very wee hours this morning. So, tonight at six o'clock, the residents of Ryan Place gathered together to celebrate the safe return of Salem to her family. Though I couldn't be with them tonight, I thank all of our community leaders, all of our police officers, Mayor Betsy Price, and all the people who came together in Ryan Place, mobilized, working together in a quick and efficient way to save an eight-year-old child. My thanks to the thousands across Tarrant County who shared image. I saw it over and over and over again until the wee hours of the morning. And to those church members who stayed after it and found that car late in the night, hoping to make a difference, I am forever grateful. So, now I'd like to yield to my friend and colleague, Senator Hancock.

President: And then I'll come to Senator Nelson. Senator Hancock.

Senator Hancock: Yes, thank you, Mr. President. Thank you for bringing this to the floor. Members, we normally end, right, in a very solemn occasions. We normally end with the death of an individual. We normally end recognizing that a life has been taken. And I think it's very fitting tonight that we recognize not just the life that was saved, but the work that this body has done, Senator Huffman, Senator Alvarado, so many, Senator Nelson, so many, Senator Zaffirini, in regards to addressing just this issue. This is where human trafficking starts. A child snatched from their mother's arms, snatched from the park. The work that we do here today, we normally don't get to celebrate or find out if it worked or didn't work. Frankly, social media is pretty depressing most of the time, but it saved a life. It saved this little girl's life. And it wasn't a lot of people from North Texas grabbing their boats saving an entire community heading down to save other Texans, but this was just two individuals who saw it on social media after church, reported it, police following up on it, crashing through a door, and saving a little eight year old's life. This is how community works. This is how government works. And ladies and gentlemen, colleagues, my friends, this is how your work makes a difference in an eight year old's life, and I promise you it has changed her mother's life forever. Thank you.

President: Senator Nelson? Thank you, Senator Hancock.

Senator Nelson: Thank you, and, Senator Powell, thank you for bringing this to everybody's attention. I represented Ryan's Place at one time and still have part of the City of Fort Worth. Last night my cell phone just exploded, and we were all so concerned, and I am so grateful to that community, to the police. I mean everybody kicked in. Everybody was sending out e-mails and pictures and going to the streets and hunting for this little girl, and the end result was such a happy one. It is miraculous and I think, Senator Hancock, you're right, it's due to not just to the work of this body but that community. Everybody went out hunting for that little girl. And the police, I mean it is a miracle that that little girl is alive and safe today, so thank you for that. It's a happy story. Thank you for bringing it up.
