Father, as we serve in this Chamber, guide us to establish justice, provide for the common defense to ensure domestic tranquility, promote the general welfare, and to secure the blessings of liberty. And also, Lord, as a side note, the Texas state 5A golf championship is up in Williamson County right now. Please hold off the rain so they can finish. We pray these things in Your glorious name. REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

On motion of Senator Miles and by unanimous consent, the remarks by Senators Hughes and Miles regarding HB 1382 were ordered reduced to writing and printed in the Senate Journal as follows:

Senator Miles: Brother Hughes, I'm trying to just understand why.

Senator Hughes: Right.

Senator Miles: Can you give me the reason, what is this chasing–

Senator Hughes: Oh, of course–

Senator Miles: –what are we trying to do here? Why?

Senator Hughes: –well, Senator, as you know, I think you and I agree that paper backup, paper ballots are a good idea. You know electronic voting somehow folks don't know whether there can be a recount, but with paper ballots it's important that we know how many ballots are out there, know this is the same ballot I sent is the one that came back. So, this just requires numbering of those ballots. It doesn't, it doesn't tell me how you voted or how anybody else voted. It's actually in the Texas Constitution that all ballots are supposed to be numbered. That's what the idea is, it's just really about keeping track and making sure that we have the same number of ballots sent out that come back.

Senator Miles: But when you number a ballot, don't you identify who voted on that ballot?

Senator Hughes: Oh, no, Sir.

Senator Miles: Tell me why not.

Senator Hughes: No, Sir.
Senator Miles: Tell me why not.

Senator Hughes: Well if we did that, then somebody could go back and they could see how you voted. And so, we don't want to do that. We want to protect that secret ballot.

Senator Miles: But when you have a numerical number identified to what household it went to, then you know whose ballot that is.

Senator Hughes: To make sure we're clear, this doesn't tell us, this keeps track of each one received and each voter, each envelope sent out but it doesn't allow you to go back and see, okay, Senator Miles had ballot number x-y-z. No, no, that's, I'm glad you asked. That's not what this is about.

Senator Miles: So, so Brother Hughes, number 19 is sent to Maemae Jenkins' house.

Senator Hughes: One more time, I'm sorry.

Senator Miles: Number 19, ballot 1919 is sent to Ms. Jenkins' house. You're telling me there's no tracking system, there's no backup that knows that number 1919 went to the Jenkins' household?

Senator Hughes: That's correct. That's important. That's important. It's not about being able to see how a certain person voted. That's not what it's about at all.

Senator Miles: Okay, so how are we keeping count, then what is the purpose of it? If we're not, if the numerical numbers aren't housed or logged anywhere, then what is the purpose of this?

Senator Hughes: Uhm, I think I follow what you're saying.

Senator Miles: The way I read this--

Senator Hughes: The idea is we want to make sure that the ballot that gets sent out is the ballot that gets sent back.

Senator Miles: Sent back.

Senator Hughes: As you know, sometimes people go to mailboxes--

Senator Miles: But--

Senator Hughes: --they steal them--

Senator Miles: --and--

Senator Hughes: --sometimes people request them on your behalf without you knowing about it. So, that's the idea.

Senator Miles: And, Senator Hughes, in order to know that it came back, there has to be a database somewhere. Correct?

Senator Hughes: Keep going, I think I'm with you.

Senator Miles: If there has to be a database, when you send 1919 out--

Senator Hughes: Right.

Senator Miles: --in order to keep track of it, it's got to be a database somewhere, held somewhere to do what you're asking it--
Senator Hughes: Right.
Senator Miles: to do.
Senator Hughes: Keep going. I'm with you so far.
Senator Miles: Okay. So, in that database, when it was sent out–
Senator Hughes: Okay.
Senator Miles: –you know, in order for you to know that the right person–
Senator Hughes: I see.
Senator Miles: –returned the right one–
Senator Hughes: I got you.
Senator Miles: –there's got to be a database, a cross reference.
Senator Hughes: The number, forgive me, the number is on the carrier envelope that you send your ballot back in. So, once everything comes back and it's checked, as you know, the ballot's removed from the carrier envelope, and it goes over into the sea of ballots. So, if I misspoke, I apologize. The number goes on the carrier envelope that you send your ballot back in.
Senator Miles: Okay.
Senator Hughes: So it's still protected as far as the ballot is. I'm sorry if I said that wrong.
Senator Miles: So, clarification.
Senator Hughes: Yes, Sir.
Senator Miles: The envelope that it comes back with has the number on it.
Senator Hughes: Yes, Sir.
Senator Miles: And the envelope that it comes back in, when the ballot comes back, are you telling me that that envelope is discarded?
Senator Hughes: Those envelopes are retained but they are separated from the ballot. And you remember how this process works.
Senator Miles: Okay, but the envelope–
Senator Hughes: So when, when the carrier envelope comes back, the information's verified, and then the ballot is removed, and it's put over there with the ballots, the envelopes are retained over here. So, we don't know what ballot goes in what envelope, because that would violate the secret ballot if we did that.
Senator Miles: Okay, and then–
Senator Hughes: We don't want to do that.
Senator Miles: –where are those, when those ballots come back and they're separated from the envelope–
Senator Hughes: Yes, Sir.
Senator Miles: –where's that taking place at?
Senator Hughes: Once, well, once those are separated then there’s–
Senator Miles: No, where are they–
Senator Hughes: —no way–
Senator Miles: —where are they separated at?
Senator Hughes: Well, they, they're mailed back to the county, they're mailed back to the county–
Senator Miles: Well–
Senator Hughes: —clerk–
Senator Miles: —let's–
Senator Hughes: —or the elections division–
Senator Miles: —think realistically.
Senator Hughes: —if you’re in a larger county–
Senator Miles: So, they're mailed back–
Senator Hughes: —if that's what you're asking.
Senator Miles: —to the county.
Senator Hughes: Yes, Sir.
Senator Miles: And then they're separated.
Senator Hughes: That’s right. They’re separated after information’s verified. As you know, there’s a ballot board, they look at the signatures, the board has Democrats and Republicans. They look at the signatures, go over the details, and once they verify, then the ballot is separated and it goes over there with the ballots.
Senator Miles: Right.
Senator Hughes: So, we don’t know what ballot envelope your ballot was in.
Senator Miles: Okay. So, where they're separated then the envelope goes over here–
Senator Hughes: Yes.
Senator Miles: —and the ballot goes over here.
Senator Hughes: Yes, Sir.
Senator Miles: Okay. And that's done with the secretary, in the secretary's office, at the ballot board.
Senator Hughes: Yes, Sir. The county handles that on a, on a, on a county by county basis. That is right.
Senator Miles: County by county basis. So, what's to stop the separation, at the part of the separation what is to prevent something, some hanky panky going on right there at that, at that place, because as in some of the counties that we live in they're not going to be a whole lot of people in that ballot board, or at the separation. There may just be two or three people. So, we're putting the faith in those two or three people to do the right thing is what you're saying.
Senator Hughes: Well, Senator, what you’re describing is current law.

Senator Miles: I’m Senator Miles, there’s Senator West.

Senator Hughes: What, did I call you, I–

Senator Miles: You called me Senator West. That’s the other Black guy.

Senator Hughes: He was, he was motioning, I apologize.

Senator Miles: That’s the big guy.

Senator Hughes: He ask more, he asked more questions.

Senator Miles: I’m the better looking one.

Senator Hughes: Obviously, obviously. He asks more questions. Sir?

Senator Hughes: You started this, Senator West. Senator Miles–

Senator Miles: Come on, man.

Senator Hughes: Thank you, so to answer your question it sounds like the concern is with the current system because right now whether the envelopes are numbered or not, right now an envelope comes back with the voter's name and address on it, and voter ID, and voter number, registration number. Current law, that envelope comes back with that information and the ballots on the inside. And then that ballot board, they have to go through it and they separate. So, separate and apart from this amendment, it sounds like your concern may be with the, with the current system. I want to make sure I’m following you.

Senator Miles: No, my concern's not with the current system. My concern is with numbering. What your bill here does is numbering the envelope that the ballot comes in and concern that at that point and time we can identify who voted what. And that's not something that is constitutional, and we shouldn't be trying to put anything in place because I don't really think, right now, I don't see the problem. I've never see the problem with fraud with mail ballots. So, I'm seeing the problem starting to develop when we start numbering people's ballots and people's envelopes.

Senator Hughes: Well, Senator, the envelope already has the name and address, voter ID number, so if we're concerned about the envelope being tied to the ballot, it's got the name and address and voter, voter registration number. So, this is a separate, discrete number.

Senator Miles: Okay, so–

Senator Hughes: I’ve already pres–

Senator Miles: –we have the name–

Senator Hughes: –already got your name and address.

Senator Miles: –if we have the name and address, why do we need the number for?

Senator Hughes: I think maybe we’re just, I’m not, I’m not quite following you, but keep going, I’m trying.

Senator Miles: You’re a smart man, Senator Hughes. If we got a name and address, what do we need to number that person’s ballot form, ballot envelope for?
Senator Hughes: So, this is about keeping track of the number of envelopes that go out and the number of envelopes that come back.

Senator Miles: Okay. So–

Senator Hughes: To make sure somebody didn't steal, go into your mailbox and steal the ballot or something like that, which is, you know, there's been testimony that happens. So, I tell you what, it happens in East Texas, I don't know about your district, but it happens in East Texas. We've had testimony about that.

Senator Miles: Okay, we, in SB 7–

Senator Hughes: Yes, Sir.

Senator Miles: –we made a criminal offense, we put in criminal offenses for fraudulent activity as relates to our ballot, did we not?

Senator Hughes: In Senate Bill 7 the only, the only criminal, the only crime created was refusing to admit a poll watcher. Senate Bill 7 did not have any other enhanced penalties. Now in two, now you recall when you and I first got here, we did make it a, a state jail felony to put false information on your application for a mail ballot. You and I were here for that. But Senate Bill 7 did not do penalties about mail ballots. I think the House version did but Senate Bill 7 as we sent it out of here did not.

Senator Miles: Okay, so, and I'm closing out right now. So, would you be opposed to putting, if this doesn't work the way we want it to work or you think it's going to work, because I see a pro– a possibility there's some fraud could be committed by numbering these ballots or by numbering these envelopes. I see a possibility, a loophole where some fraud can be committed here. Should we not put criminal penalties on these numbers of these ballots if they're used improperly?

Senator Hughes: If someone is committing fraud with these, no matter what they're doing, they're already breaking the law, so I don't know how we could specify an offense just related to these numbers. But they'd already be breaking the law if, if they're cheating, they're already going to be breaking the law. We already have that.

Senator Miles: Okay, so if we find out we've got a large fraud, as it relates to, as your backup comes to help you out, Senator Bettencourt. Seems like every time I get on the mic, Mr. President, with anybody, Bettencourt backs them up.

Senator Miles: If you're, if we determine, are you willing to say and put in record, that if we determine that, if we do start seeing fraud on these numbered mail ballot envelopes, okay, that you're willing to come back in the 77th legislative session and take this and redo this.

Senator Hughes: Senator, let me say–

Senator Miles: Are you willing to put that on record?

Senator Hughes: Yes. Let me say, unequivocally, if there's evidence that somebody's cheating and using this to cheat, yes, Sir. You and me will come back and deal with of course. Of course.

Senator Miles: Okay. Thank you, Sir.

Senator Hughes: Yes, Sir, thank you for that.
Senator Miles: Thank you, Senator.

Senator Hughes: Of course.

STATEMENT REGARDING SENATE BILL 1311

Senator Eckhardt submitted the following statement regarding SB 1311:

This body has passed a very damaging piece of legislation. SB 1311 is discriminatory: it is the latest attack against the LGBTQ community, a group of Texans that have borne the brunt of hateful legislation in Texas for years. SB 1311 is dangerous: trans youth are already at an elevated risk of suicide, and this bill denies them medical treatment proven to help them, greatly exacerbating the chance these young people attempt to take their own lives. And SB 1311 is unconstitutional, blatantly violating the US Constitution's equal protection clause. This bill is yet another example of lawmakers in Austin claiming to know more than the medical professionals of our state, overruling their best judgment, and driving a wedge in the doctor-patient relationship. Texas already ranks in the bottom 10 states in doctors per capita. If we continue to penalize medical professionals for doing their job, I fear that we will continue to drive doctors we sorely need away from our state.
