Thank You, God, for this day and for Your promises. Your word says in 2 Corinthians 5:7, We live by faith not by sight. These days are challenging and unknown, but I am thankful for the men and women in this room who care about our country, who care about this state. I pray that You give each one the wisdom, knowledge, clarity, and peace in all the plans and decisions that are set before them today. I pray these men and women take time to rest in the midst of decisions, pressures, and especially the high calling. I pray for joy in the journey You have each one traveling on now. I pray blessings over this building and each one who enters. Lord, I pray as men and women serve here today at the Capitol that You watch over their homes and be ever so present with their loved ones. I pray that You guide, and protect our military and first responders who sacrificially stand in the gap for us as individuals and our nation. Let us never forget the ones who have laid down their lives so we may live freely, and we continue to ask that You be with their families. Our hope is built on a solid rock and in You, God, we trust. With respect to all beliefs, I pray in the precious name of Jesus. Amen.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

On motion of Senator Kolkhorst and by unanimous consent, the remarks by Senators King and Kolkhorst regarding CSHB 30 were ordered reduced to writing and printed in the Senate Journal as follows:

President: Senator Kolkhorst, what purpose?

Senator Kolkhorst: To ask the author—

President: Do you yield?

Senator Kolkhorst: —a few questions.

President: Do you yield?

Senator Kolkhorst: Thank you, Senator King, appreciate you bringing this bill forward. And you and I have had several discussions today about what the record is and what information would be available.

Senator King: I think that's another bill that's coming up. I'm sorry, which probably shows you that my layout was not that clear.

Senator Kolkhorst: It's not 30.

Senator King: I think you were thinking about Moody, Chairman Moody's other bill, which is 1385, on criminal history records.

President: Excuse me, Members, can both of you speak up more? It's very hard to hear you. Into the mic.

Senator Kolkhorst: Can I have one second?

President: Okay.

Senator King: My mistake, it is this bill.

Senator Kolkhorst: Thank you, Mr. President. So, you and I had a discussion earlier today about the, what you're trying to accomplish here is to have more transparency and to release some of this information to the public. And you and I were talking about what "record" is defined as in the bill. One of the things that I became aware of during the Protect All Texans that Senator Nichols chaired, the interim committee, was something I wasn't completely aware of, is that, toxicology reports usually are not made public. In fact, we don't even know if we always do toxicology reports on those that commit these murders. Is that correct?

Senator King: That's correct, we're not sure.

Senator Kolkhorst: And so, in our discussion, one of the things that we talked about was should that be made available. And one of the things that I, as Chair of Health and Human Services, have become concerned about is, is there a pattern there? Is there something that maybe, we talk about mental health, the mental well-being, what makes someone do these, commit these heinous crimes, and is there something to that, whether that would be meth or a number of illegal drugs, even legal drugs? And so, is it your understanding that if toxicology reports are a part of the record, that those would be made available to the public?

Senator King: And to where you're going, I understand completely. Part of the reason we're doing this is for transparency, for one, for the family's sake and the others who were closely involved with that. And the other is so that people can take a hard look at this, legislators, criminologists, people who are trying to find out what's going on with someone who commits a crime. And what you're talking about is, if there is a toxicology report, that, should that not also be a part of what is released so we can say, was this person a meth addict or were they a heavy user of marijuana or were they, you know, what was going on, other drugs that might be there? And the statute simply, as it is written, calls for a record to be released. It does not define "record" to my knowledge, "record" is not defined in the code. It may be somewhere, but to my knowledge, I'm not aware of that. When something's not defined, then you go to the common use of the word in general language, and the dictionary would say a record is a form or a report, something like that. I hope that a toxicology report fits under that definition of "record." I honestly do not, why it would not, because it is a record just like other investigative reports that would be produced in that homicide investigation. So, if it is not, it certainly should be. My thought is that the common use of that word would say the toxicology report would be a part of it. Now there may be some HIPPA regulation that's federal that supersedes that from being released since it's medical information, but my hope is under this bill that it would be released.

Senator Kolkhorst: And so, the intent, just so you and I are clear, that it would be released if it was a part of that. Correct?

Senator King: Absolutely.

Senator Kolkhorst: Thank you for that clarification. And let me say, Senator King, and to the Members, other Senators, I think this is an area that we really have to look at in the interim. I know that I had a bill that was trying to work through State Affairs that talked about toxicology reports. When we look at, again, characteristics of someone that would murder another person, especially those that are acts out of targeting a group of people, we have to start understanding what makes that person act in those violent situations. And we, you know, we can look at different things that we have. You know, were they isolated? Was it gaming? Was it, you and I talked about the characteristics of a potential or those that have committed these crimes. And so, I look forward to working with you and other Members in the interim to make toxicology tests mandatory, and that then, again, it is released to the public so that we can begin to see if there is a pattern and so that parents and loved ones and everyone else knows that certain things could lead to psychosis, which then leads to someone not being sane and doing actions that harm others. And so, thank you for your clarifications. Mr. President, I move to have the remarks between Senator King and I reduced to writing and placed in the Journal.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

On motion of Senator Miles and by unanimous consent, the remarks by Senators Paxton and Miles regarding HB 1299 were ordered reduced to writing and printed in the Senate Journal as follows:

President: You wanted to speak, I'm sorry, I missed your light. You're recognized, for what purpose?

Senator Miles: Question to the author, Mr. President.

President: Do you yield?

Senator Paxton: Of course.

Senator Miles: Thank you.

President: Members, can we have it a little quiet in here because they're talking across the entire room? Thank you.

Senator Miles: Senator Paxton, you and I already had this conversation. I just wanted to get it on record. You know, I represent an aging community, and I'm sure some of my colleagues, as well, do. In the history of Texas, Mr. President, we, seniors were known to make their mark.

Senator Paxton: Umh hmm.

Senator Miles: It was not their signature, it was called their mark and it was simply an X. So, my question is simply, when somebody fills out a ballot and they just make an X, which is considered their mark, a lot of people do, especially in rural parts of Texas and our seniors, will their vote still be counted?

Senator Paxton: Senator Miles, I really appreciate you bringing this up to me. You brought it up with me last night in advance, which I appreciated as well, so I could make sure I got the answer to this question, which is kind of a technical question about the envelopes. And that is already provided for in the Election Code, as it is right now, and this bill does nothing to change that.

Senator Miles: And that's what I want a clarification of, thank you.

Senator Paxton: Thank you.

Senator Miles: Thank you. Thank you, Mr. President.

President: Are you good?

Senator Miles: Yes, and all I ask is that our conversation be put into writing. Simple.
